Give a baroque taste to your event and book the majestic front yard of this 18th century palace just a few steps from the main gate of the silent city of Mdina.

The National Museum of Natural History is situated in Mdina in an eighteenth century palace, restructured by Grand Master Antonio Manoel de Vilhena, with plans by Charles Francois de Mondion in 1726. Vilhena Palace was designed in Parisian Baroque style, substituting the original building of the medieval University.
Venue ideal for
• Weddings
• Dinners
• Corporate Functions
• Product launching
• Receptions
• Concerts

Space for Rent
361m² (19m x 19m)

Capacity
400 standing or 200 seated

Accessibility and Facilities
• Storage area for caterers
• Restrooms

*Terms and Conditions apply