With the temples having been recently fitted with a brand new walkway and protective tent, the outside area is ideal for a small reception or event. Let your mind travel back in time and enjoy your event surrounded by the structures which have survived the millenia.

The Tarxien Temples site consists of a complex of four megalithic structures built between 3600 and 2500 BC and re-used between 2400 and 1500 BC. Discovered in 1913 by local farmers, the site was extensively excavated between 1915 and 1919, with a number of minor interventions carried out in the 1920s, by Sir Themistocles Zammit, Director of Museums at the time.
